When is an exemption or discount possible?

We may apply an exemption from Council Tax if everyone 18 or over living in the property is severely cognitively impaired. An exemption means that no-one has to pay the Council Tax for that property.

If there is only one adult living in a property, they can apply for a single person's discount of 25%. However, if anyone aged 18 or over is severely cognitively impaired and without them there is only one adult living in the property, you may apply for the same 25% discount.

What does severely cognitively impaired mean?

Severely cognitively impaired means a person who has severe impairment of intelligence and social functioning (however caused), which appears to be permanent.

They should also be entitled to one of the benefits listed below:

- Incapacity Benefit or Employment Support Allowance;
- Severe Disablement Allowance or Invalidity Pension;
- Unemployability Supplement or Allowance;
- Disability element of Working Tax Credit;
- Attendance Allowance or Constant Attendance Allowance;
- An increase in the rate of Disablement Pension;
- Higher/middle rate of the care component of Disability Living Allowance;
- Standard or enhanced daily living component of Personal Independence Payment;
- Universal Credit where the calculation includes an amount in respect of the claimant having limited capability for work /work-related activity;
- Armed Forces Independence Payment;
- Income Support (which includes a disability premium) or;
- A state pension where the person would have been entitled to one of the benefits listed if they had not reached retirement age.

How do I apply?

Please complete the form and ensure that the bottom section is fully completed and signed by a registered medical practitioner. We also require evidence of entitlement to one of the mentioned benefits to be sent with this application (photocopies accepted). If you qualify an adjusted bill will be sent.

Any changes in circumstances should be notified to the council within 21 days.
